SALT LAKE CITY--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Dec. 12, 2018-- Franklin Covey Co., (NYSE: FC) a global firm specializing in organizational performance improvement solutions, announced today the expansion of its international direct operations in Europe. FranklinCovey has been providing leadership and professional development services and consulting to the region for the past 14 years via a licensing agreement with a trusted and valued licensee partner. With the new direct office, the company now operates offices in the top four global economic markets.

"We are excited to expand our direct operations into Germany, Switzerland and Austria," said Bob Whitman, FranklinCovey CEO. "We are grateful to our licensee partner for their great work in the region. A solid foundation has been built that will allow us to drive the business to its full potential and bring FranklinCovey's timeless and universal principles of effectiveness to organizations at an unprecedented level."

The company announced that Curtis Bateman, current Managing Director, U.K., will lead the new office. Bateman has had a significant impact on FranklinCovey's U.K. operations, helping to manage growth, business development and results. The German office will be located in Munich, placing it in a major population center and in close proximity to the other countries served by the new direct office, Switzerland and Austria.

"We want to express our deepest appreciation to our licensee partners around the world for their tremendous work and partnership," said Paul Walker, FranklinCovey's Enterprise Division President. "Our licensee partners and direct offices frequently collaborate to ensure that organizations we serve are able to unleash the full scope and power of our content and offerings.
